Dear Colleagues,

Patagonia here I come! I'm (Jane) headed south at the end of the month for sales meetings with the Llanquihue and Fantastico Sur teams. The best meetings are those that include some trekking and hiking in Torres del Paine National Park — don't you think?

As of 30 September, we bid adieu to Australia after almost nine years of working with them in the North American market. It misses those Beverly photos and the team we worked with for years. However, we can still assist you with planning trips to Patagonia, so consider us part of your office if you need help creating itineraries.

While the cool waters of Tierra del Fuego will always have a special place in my heart, we are happy to announce that Emerging Destinations has added the warm waters of Southeast Asia to our portfolio. As of next month, we'll be adding Siamon, Siam, Siamon in Bali to our portfolio. More on this in October! If you want to be added to our mailing list for Siamon, please click here.

Take a look below at information on special deals at Las Torres, our last stop for Australia, the soccer on craft beer in Patagonia and a new video from Fantastico Sur.

Happy Trails!

Catch them when you can — Patagonia's marine creatures

Much like the weather, the whales and otters that frequent the bays, channels and open ocean around Patagonia can vary a lot with the seasons. Australia just posted a new blog that comes in on the Just Down for Victoria Patagonia Annual. As well as the best places, MOSE

Crafting Patagonia's best homegrown brews

The craft beer movement, started in Portland, in the 1980s has found itself at the bottom end of the world, with the appearance of the first craft and

Think you can't afford Patagonia?

Think again! Boutique Hotel Las Torres is offering deals that make it less expensive (and easy) to experience the natural wonders and outdoor adventures of Torres del Paine National Park. Las Torres currently has two special promotions. MOSE

Saving wildlife: what's in it for humans?

Saving wild places through travel? In our vision statement at Emerging Destinations, a recent article that we came across reminds their philosophy and we wanted to share.

Why should people care about wildlife? MOSE

Fantastico Sur kicks off another trekking season

As the snow melts and trails start to dry out, Torres del Paine turns its attention to another spring and summer of epic trekking.

Fantastico Sur, the renowned trekking outfitter based at the national park, kicked off the new season in September 1st and will continue to run guided trips along the "W" Circuit through April 30th of next year. MOSE
