

Order Small Ship Cruising Brochures Here

Dear Colleagues,

Special, specials and more special! Both Iceland ProCruises and SeaTrek Sailing Adventures in Bali have just released brand new special — just in time to book your dream vacation for the summer. All the info you need is below.

In addition to savings, this installment of our small ship cruise newsletter includes more good news. Mt. Agung's alert status has been lowered significantly, there's still room on SeaTrek's annual textile cruise, and some exciting new restaurants have opened in Bali.

We want to give you important news updates they way you want which is why we have created an SMS text message version of our news. Click the link to receive important text updates.

As always, don't hesitate to reach out.

News At A Glance

- You still have until the end of this year to save 20% on 2019 sailings with Iceland ProCruises' early bird special. Book now and save!
  - The 2018 season has already started strong, with 3 "Iceland Circumnavigation" cruises already fully booked: June 10th, June 21st and September 3rd.
  - Iceland ProCruises is excited to announce the extension of its charter contract for the Ocean Diamond through 2022. Meanwhile, growing interest from the North American market has prompted IPC's managing directors — Gudmundur Karlsson and Ann-Cathrin Brocker — to undertake the search for a second ship to add to the fleet. The second ship would travel around Iceland on an opposite route to the Ocean Diamond. Stay tuned!
  - Upgrading of the Ocean Diamond continues. Cabins on decks 3 and 4 as well as the Observation Lounge on deck 7 will be refurbished this spring before our 2018 season starts. This means ALL cabin categories will have been refurbished, the two remaining public areas, the main dining room and main lounge, will be refurbished before our 2019 season making all renovations complete!

Reykjavik — which doubles as the home port for Iceland ProCruises — offers an amazing array of Icelandic food to eat during your sojourn in the Icelandic capital. Here are some of our favorite new eateries. Click

Mt. Agung Update from SeaTrek

Although the predicted (and much-anticipated) volcanic eruptions of September and October have not materialized, Mt. Agung is still ever present in our day-to-day lives and thinking here in Bali. The mountain occasionally releases gas and ash up into the atmosphere, and there's a small handful of eruptions since Christmas. But overall, things are moving in the right direction away from Bali's international airport, so there have been no disruptions to travel. Click
