Dear Colleague,

In this month's small ship cruise newsletter, Iceland ProCruises wants you to know there's still space available this summer and they're offering 20% off rates for 2019 cruises.

Meanwhile, SeaTrek Sailing Adventures in Indonesia is delighted to announce that Dr. Lawrence Blair — the esteemed writer, filmmaker and explorer, as well as a renowned authority on the culture, geography and zoology of Southeast Asia — will be the prestigious guest-expert aboard their 'Scents of the Spice Islands' cruise this September.

And we have a new client starting in May — Cruce Andino. While they may not have cruise ships, their specialty is sailing through the Andes mountains on a route through the gorgeous Lake Districts between Puerto Varas (Chile) and Bariloche (Argentina). They are the only company licensed to use this iconic route. The journey — which includes both road and ferry segments — can be accomplished in one day or spread out over multiple days with an opportunity to explore the lakeshores and national parks on foot, bike, horseback, kayak or 4x4 vehicles, with overnights in romantic lakeside lodges and historic island hotels. Let us know if you want more information on them.

And are your clients Fit for Trips? See the information below!

Best wishes

Jane + Jessie
